Measures both bath water and room temperature
Water resistant and shaped like a bee he is small, compact and useful to have around the home. Floating around the bath, thermobath will display the results on the screen on his tummy. Alternatively, thermobath will check the temperature of a room, making sure bathtime is the right temperature both in and out of the water

Temperature and time alert
Either a green or red light indicates if a temperature is either too high or too low. The built-in stopwatch enables parents to monitor the length of time their child spends in the bath.

A fun and friendly bath toy thermobath complies with the European Toy Safety Standards so your child can use safely whilst in the bath.
